

The Free Spirit

You and the Other Financial Personalities

Financial personalities sharing similar traits are very comfortable around each other and reinforce each other's good or bad behaviors. Other financial personalities possess opposing traits, which can lead to conflict or bring out the best in each other.

OVERVIEW

PERSONALITY

SIMILARITY

INSIGHT

The Adventurer

Adventurers and Free Spirits are enthusiastic explorers of the world, who tend to not worry about the costs of exploration. If they can work together when managing their money, they can avoid the financial and mental stress of living the life of explorers.

The Ambassador

When Free Spirits hatch another idea, Ambassadors are typically supportive and help bring focus. Sometimes this can lead to stress when making decisions as a couple, but by listening to each other and evenly making choices, they'll be great.

The Architect

This could be an "opposites attract" situation. Architects are organized planners and Free Spirits — to put it lightly — aren't. But if they can find balance, they can create a pair that strives to experience more while staying grounded enough to effectively chase the new and different.

The Contrarian

If you're looking for this pairing, check the roads less traveled because Free Spirits follow every path and Contrarians make their own paths. Their unique approaches to life can balance each other well, but can isolate them as a couple outside others' normal routines.

The Free Spirit

It's near impossible to predict what 2 Free Spirits will do together, but whatever they do will be a one-of-a-kind experience. What makes them strong together — their freedom and curiosity — could also be their downfall, as neither is too worried about planning or money.

The Guardian

Guardians' love of consistency contrasts with Free Spirits' more devil-may-care attitude. While this can cause tension, it also can push each of them to real personal growth — Guardians can explore new experiences and Free Spirits can find deeper focus in their lives.

The Oasis

Free Spirits chase a new experience every day but Oases are more focused inward than outward. Together they can bring each other out of their comfort zones with a balance of exploration and quiet self-reflection, or it could cause a lot of spirited discussions.

The Rock

The balance of Rocks' calm with Free Spirits' well, free spirit, creates a pair who collects interesting experiences. While they can solve almost any outside issue, they have a tendency not to worry about their own, which can lead to unneeded stress and conflict.

The Spark

The creativity brought to this relationship is second to none. But Free Spirits' laid-back attitude and Sparks' incredible drive and tendency to worry can stress and strain the relationship. But by combining creative forces, they can create a relationship that's always interesting.

The Storyteller

Free Spirits are always searching for the next life-changing experience and Storytellers are looking for someone to tell about it. Their natural impulsiveness can lead to a rift if neither has a plan for the future, but they have the creativity to handle most problems.